

My name is Flora Dickens and I am 18 years old. I started as a competitive dancer and competed up until the age of 17. During my years of competing I have won multiple scholarships, awards, regional and National titles. I've worked with some of the most talented dance photographers including Jordan Matter and Shark cookie. Trained in ballet, jazz, tap, contemporary, modern, hip hop, lyrical, pointe, and acrobatics. Outside of training in the studios growing up I would train one on one with Alex Wong in ballet and contemporary. This past year I've expanded in my dance career by teaching and choreographing at many studios around the state of Massachusetts from ages 5-18! You can find me on this years new Season 17 of So You Think You Can Dance!
